7. FEE SCHEDULE

As we approach the middle of 2021, here is an update on the status of Fee Schedule.

As per the update presented in the College of Radiology Newsletter Issue 3 (March 2021), we are awaiting our updated fees to be gazette by the Parliament. However, two events have stalled the updated Amended 13th Fee Schedule - the Covid-19 pandemic and the announcement of the 'State of Emergency', which interrupted Parliament sitting.

As an interim, the Malaysian Medical Association introduced their MMA Fee Schedule 2020 for hospitals' benefit, albeit for a fee, while the newly updated fee comes into existence. To clarify, this was pushed forth by the insurance companies and did not have any guidelines on fees for some of the new procedures that have been introduced recently, complicating the process of insurance claims for patients and hospitals.

The Ministry of Health then came out with a memo which strictly highlighted that the MMA Fee Schedule 2020 could be utilized in the interim for all new procedures not currently available in the PHFSA. Otherwise, the PHFSA codes and charges will still supersede any claims until the new schedule is out.

We hope that once new fees are finalized, the radiologists will be justly remunerated for their contribution to imaging and managing their patients. We value all our members patience in seeing this new schedule come to light hopefully as soon as possible.

We hope our country will pull through this pandemic and come out stronger.
Malaysia Tanahairku.

IMAGING IN INTERVENTIONAL RADIOLOGY

Date : 16 January 2021
 Time : 2.00 pm - 6.00 pm

4 CPD Approved Points

Introduction: The interventional radiologist has become an integral part in the management of patients in various specialties in this day and age, providing a myriad of minimally invasive image-guided diagnostic or therapeutic procedures. In some cases, these procedures have evolved to become the mainstay treatment option, surpassing traditional methods. As interventional radiology services become more widespread, it is also essential for both the diagnostic and interventional radiologists to be familiar with pre- and post-procedure imaging findings as incorrect interpretation may cause much consternation to the clinicians and patients alike. Hence, this webinar aims to disseminate knowledge and explain the role of diagnostic imaging in managing patients before, during and after selected interventional radiology procedures.

Introduction: The objective of this half-day webinar is to enhance the knowledge and update Radiologists with new technology in the field of Breast Imaging. Imaging plays a pivotal role in the clinical decision-making process, using various modalities, such as digital mammography (contrast-enhanced & tomographic), ultrasound, and MRI. Every modality has its strengths and weaknesses in screening, diagnosis, treatment, and follow-up of patients. It is essential that the clinicians are aware of these, and know-how these findings impact clinical decision making. Based on objective information, radiologists can appropriately determine using the multi-disciplinary approach with the modalities that are most appropriate and cost-effective for each individual. Radiologists, Radiology Technicians, Radiographers, and clinicians too will find this webinar very beneficial and informative.

Welcome to this Head and Neck Webinar organized by the SIG Neuroradiology, College of Radiology. Following the success of the Neuroradiology Seminar in 2019, we have decided to dedicate this webinar solely to Head & Neck Imaging. Although the Head & Neck Specialty in our country is still small, the interest is growing as evidenced by the increasing number of Radiologists subspecializing in it. General Radiologists will encounter many Head & Neck Imaging on a daily basis, from simple cases such as Sinusitis to complex ones such as Head & Neck malignancy. Thus, this Webinar is aimed at shedding light on interpreting and reporting these cases and eventually helping you in your daily work.
